Into Temitope Olusola Journey

WHY CONSULTING & COACHING

I've consistently found joy in collaborating with individuals, offering my insights and advice without judgment, and expressing my affection for them, irrespective of the circumstances. My passion lies in witnessing personal transformations, and even before venturing into consulting and coaching, I took pleasure in assisting people in discovering their dreams, regardless of their familial, ethnic, or racial backgrounds. My commitment remains unwavering: I'm always ready and enthusiastic to lend an ear to anyone prepared to share their thoughts with me. I love coaching so much that I wish everyone can hire one.

WHAT'S YOUR AIM IN CONSULTING & COACHING

As a business consultant and life coach, my primary aim is to be a catalyst for transformative change. I am dedicated to helping small businesses and healthcare providers unlock their full potential, navigate challenges, and achieve their goals. In the realm of business consulting, my focus spans areas such as Diversity, Equity & Inclusion, Leadership Development, and Tax Preparation, aiming to foster inclusive, innovative, and financially sound practices.

In life coaching, my mission is to empower individuals to cultivate meaningful relationships, discover their life's purpose, and build unwavering confidence. I aspire to create a positive impact by providing guidance, support, and actionable strategies that lead to sustained personal and professional success. Ultimately, my goal is to be a trusted partner on the journey to transformation, helping others thrive in both their professional and personal lives.

WHY TRANSFORMATION & HOW DID THAT WORK

Transformation is at the core of my work because it represents a profound shift in individuals and organizations toward positive, sustainable change. I hold the belief that true transformation originates from within, encompassing our thoughts, beliefs, attitudes, and more. For individuals raised in dysfunctional families, these components significantly influence their presence, interactions, and responses to various situations. It brings me immense joy to override these self-limiting mindsets and facilitate the creation of a fresh, empowering mindset. But transformation is an ongoing process which is why I provide continuous support, offering guidance, feedback, to ensure that progress is maintained and any challenges are addressed promptly in all my clients.

In the ever-evolving realms of business consulting and life coaching, Temitope Olusola emerges as a catalyst, driving transformative change with her distinctive expertise in Diversity, Equity & Inclusion (DEI), Leadership Development, and Tax Preparation. Additionally, her holistic approach to Relationship and Life Purpose adds a unique dimension to her contributions. Her journey serves as a testament to resilience, innovation, and an enduring dedication to fostering positive change within the professional landscape.

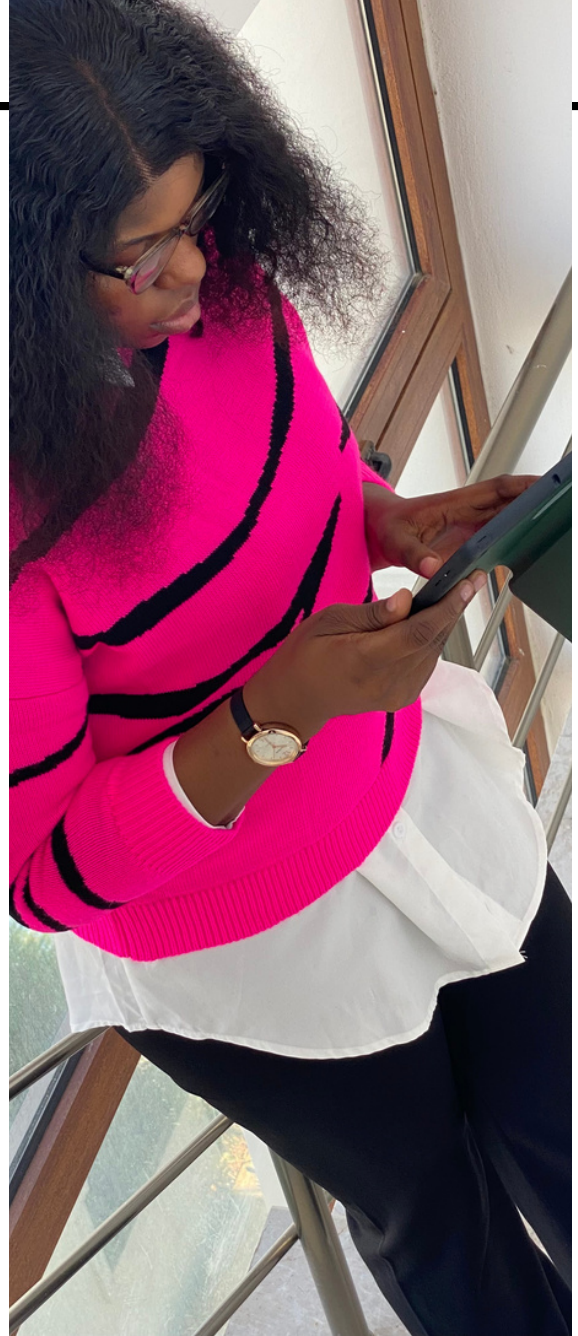

WHAT TYPE OF COACH ARE YOU & WHO DO YOU WORK WITH?

When I initially ventured into life coaching, my focus was exclusively on assisting women in areas such as relationship-building, self-awareness, and self-love. I held a strong belief that one must love and understand oneself before extending that love to others. However, I encountered skepticism and criticism, with naysayers asserting that I couldn't comprehend the perspectives of men solely based on my gender.

As my coaching practice expanded, interestingly, I started attracting male clients, and the feedback was consistently positive. This prompted introspection, I questioned whether I was evading criticism or limiting myself. Consequently, I embraced the opportunity to work with both male and female clients.

The experience of journeying with male clients significantly broadened my perspective. This expansion of understanding compelled me to venture into business consulting, particularly in aiding small businesses. The joy derived from helping clients, both men and women, achieve remarkable outcomes in both life and business has become a driving force in my professional journey.

HOW DO YOU KNOW YOU ARE ON THE RIGHT TRACK?

If it thrills and terrifies you at the same time you are on the right track. Scary doesn't mean you are wrong especially when there is a mix of excitement in the mix too.
